The term was coined in 1915 by medical officer Char les Myers. At the time it was believed to result from a physical inj ury to the nervous system during a heavy bombardment or shell attack

, later it became evident that men who had not been exposed directly to such fi re were just as traumatised.

Despite medical alerts, long term trouble were disr egarded as a cowardice and weakness of mind by military leadership. In recent de cades and following the 2003 Iraq war, shell shock have been linked to biological brain damages, such as concussions and micro-tearing of the brain tissues.
