<p&gt;&lt;/p&gt;&lt;p&gt;The announcement comes after Microsoft on Friday def eated a last-ditch effort by the US Federal Trade Commission to scuttle the &#12 8068; company'sR$68.7 billion purchase of Activision Blizzard. The Ninth Ci rcuit Court of Appeals declined to grant the regulator an emergency stay &#12806 8; of a ruling that allows the deal to proceed in the US. The United Kingdom&#3 9;s Markets and Competition Authority (CMA) 👄 is the last remaining reg ulator of note opposed to the purchase, but the watchdog and Microsoft recently agreed to put 👄 their legal battle over the deal on hold and negotiate a compromise.</p&gt;

&It;p>We are pleased to announce that Microsoft and @PlayStation 👄 h ave signed a binding agreement to keep Call of Duty on PlayStation following the acquisition of Activision Blizzard. We look 👄 forward to a future wher e players globally have more choice to play their favorite games. Phil Spencer (@XboxP3) July 👄 16, 2024&It;/p>

<p&gt;&quot;From Day One of this acquisition, we ve been committed to address ing the concerns of regulators, platform and game developers, 👄 and con sumers," Microsoft President and Vice Chair Brad Smith tweeted in response to Spencer's post. "Even after we cross the 👄 finish line for this deal s approval, we will remain focused on ensuring that Call of Duty remai ns available on more 👄 platforms and for more consumers than ever befor e."&lt:/p&qt:
