They are different for different events and sports, and it is important to understand them before getting involved in any betting activity. In the world of games of chance and betting, probability refers to the likelihood of a certain event occurring, determined by the desired outcomes divided by the total number of possible outcomes. For example, consider the roll of a die. We can find the probability of rolling a 1 or a 2 by comparing the number of desired outcomes (2) with the total number of possible outcomes (6), using the formula: $(2 \text{ desired outcomes}) / (6 \text{ total outcomes})$. In this way, we can determine the chance of winning, which is 33.33%.

- 1/3 or 0.33, which means 33.33% are the chances of rolling a 1 or 2.
